Information for children and young people

- Life story work is here to support you to look at your life from when you were born until now and will help you understand your family history
- You will be able to ask questions and find out about your birth family and the places you have lived
- Your social worker will listen to your ideas about what you want to include in your life story and will start collecting information in a treasure box for you
- We will keep the treasure box safe for you until we think you are able to ~~kepp~~ this yourself
- Sometimes your foster carer or adoptive parent may get involved in parts of the life story work
- When life story work is finished you will have a book holding valuable information about your personal history
